

Benson and Riehl Office Records

SOUTHEASTERN ARCHITECTURAL ARCHIVE
COLLECTION 44

Saratoga Building, Loyola Avenue, New Orleans, LA 1956. Herbert A. Benson and George J. Riehl, architects. Charcoal pencil on drawing board.

SCOPE and CONTENTS

Project drawings and photographs

Ca. 1922 – 1974

15 flat file drawers; 3 boxes

Records of the office of New Orleans architects Benson and Riehl (Herbert A. Benson, 1888-1961; George J. Riehl, 1899-1973). Included are records from predecessor and successor offices as noted in following chronology.

- | | |
|---|-----------|
| • Herbert A. Benson | 1937-1945 |
| • Herbert A. Benson and George J. Riehl, Associates | 1945-1961 |
| • Herbert A. Benson and George J. Riehl | 1951-1961 |
| • George J. Riehl, Donald G. Graves, Associates
(Donald G. Graves 1903-1978) | 1961-1973 |

Records include project drawings and photographs. The long professional association between New Orleans architects Herbert A. Benson and George J. Riehl is notable for having produced two important office structures in New Orleans, the California and Saratoga buildings, both built during the 1950s. Benson had previously worked on his own and also in the office of Emile Weil, one of New Orleans' more important early 20th century architectural firms. Riehl had previously worked for Weiss, Dreyfous, and Seiferth architects for the Louisiana State Capitol building, Charity Hospital in New Orleans, and other important buildings.

PROVENANCE

Donald Graves gave Tulane a group of renderings in 1974. Additional records were given by Winston P. Riehl, in 1978 and 1979, and by Benson's daughter Jesselyn Zurik in 1979 and 2001.
